The Cedar Valley Christian Huskies plan to field a varsity baseball team for the first time this summer and compete in the IHSAA postseason tournament.

Cedar Valley has 15 dates on its schedule so far and plans to add more games in the coming weeks, according to Stephanie Hodge, the school's athletic director.

The Huskies could play some of their home games at Daniels Park in Cedar Rapids.

Practice begins on April 30 and the first competition could begin on May 21, against an opponent to be determined.

Cedar Valley joined the IHSAA and the IGHSAU for the first time this season. The Huskies have competed in eight-man football, boys basketball and girls basketball so far. The school will have a boys soccer team this spring, with some girls on the roster.
