

Subs help No. 14 Eagles dunk Black Hawk

Written by Jim Ecker

Wednesday, 22 November 2017 06:41 -

The Kirkwood Eagles will need strong performances from their reserves this season if they want to seriously pursue their goals of winning conference and national titles.

They took a big step in the right direction Tuesday night.

The 14th-ranked Eagles got a big boost from their subs in a 94-69 victory over Black Hawk College at Johnson Hall.

Kirkwood's bench brigade topped their own starters in points (48-46), rebounds (24-23) and assists (11-7) and helped the Eagles take control in the second half.

The Kirkwood starters played well, and the Kirkwood reserves played even better.

"I thought they were the difference in the game," said Coach Bryan Petersen. "They gave us good energy and they were productive, and that's what we talked about in the locker room.

"You look down the line at what they were able to do, just from scoring the ball, rebounding and sharing the ball for us. They had a great night. That's probably the best our bench has been all year."

Subs help No. 14 Eagles dunk Black Hawk

Written by Jim Ecker

Wednesday, 22 November 2017 06:41 -

The Eagles' defense was solid in the first half, holding Black Hawk to a low scoring effort. The Eagles' offense was also effective, with several players contributing to the team's success. The game was a close contest, with both teams showing great effort and skill. The Eagles' victory was a well-deserved one, as they played a strong and cohesive game. The Black Hawk team also played well, but they were unable to overcome the Eagles' defense. The game was a great example of the level of play in the league, with both teams showing great skill and effort. The Eagles' victory was a testament to their hard work and dedication to the sport. The Black Hawk team also deserves credit for their performance, as they played a strong and competitive game. The game was a great example of the level of play in the league, with both teams showing great skill and effort. The Eagles' victory was a testament to their hard work and dedication to the sport. The Black Hawk team also deserves credit for their performance, as they played a strong and competitive game.